WARN TONAWANDANS ABOUT SALESMEN FOR PAINT FIRM

The Better Business Association has issued a warning urging people of the Tonawanda to carefully look over contracts before they sign them.

It was pointed out several complaints have been received from local residents with regard to an out-of-town paint concern who have representatives working this territory. The complainants state that the salesmen for this concern make varied promises as to the amount of paint to be furnished and as to the cost of painting a prospective customer's house.

After a close reading of the contract, the purchaser finds that the paint contracted for is barely enough to paint half the house, let alone the two coats promised, and mentions nothing about the actual painting of the house.

The contract goes on to say in usual form, that the firm is not responsible or liable for any statements or promises made by its salesmen, and further stipulates that the contract is not subject to cancellation for any reason.

The Better Business Association maintains a service department without charge for the benefit of local residents who desire information on any subject or scheme they may be confronted with. Merchants have made good use of this department, stated officials of the organization, but the public at large have not availed themselves of the service to a very great extent. It is urged that the Association be promptly notified as soon as a doubtful practice is discovered so that the evil can be stamped out at its infancy, as in the case of the punch board racket and the free clothing "guessing" racket recently exposed. The telephone number of the Better Business Association is 2600.

Biblical Writers Tell of Nimrod as "Hunter"
Hunters are called Nimrods from Genesis 10:9 where Ham's grandson Nimrod is referred to as "a mighty hunter before the Lord." The preceding verse says that Nimrod "came to be a mighty one in the earth," a passage which John Skinner, the Bible commentator, interpreted as "the originator of the idea of the military state, based on arbitrary force." In the context it is stated that "the beginning of his kingdom was Babel," which was Babylon, and in Micah 5:6 "the land of Nimrod" is mentioned as being in the "entrance" of Assyria. Although these references to Nimrod are undoubtedly derived from some ancient Babylonian saga, and many attempts have been made to identify him with various historical or legendary personages known through other sources, no equivalent of the name has ever been found on any of the cuneiform records excavated in Assyria. Bible scholars are not agreed as to just what is meant by Nimrod's being "a mighty hunter before the Lord." Some commentators accept this description in the literal sense of one who hunts animals. But "ghor,"

Complainers Forgotten
A hasty survey of American history fails to reveal the name of a single person who got a worthwhile place in the record because of whining and complaint. The people who are there won their places largely because they buckled down to business and to solid accomplishment and left the complaining, the doubting and hesitation to others. The nation was built on hard-ship, little else was known. The work was done not because of hard times, but in spite of them.—Kansas City Times.

World War Registrations
The first World War registration day was June 5, 1917, covering the ages from twenty-one to thirty-one. The second registration, June 5, 1918, and August 24, 1918, included those who had reached the age of twenty-one since the first registration. The third registration, September 12, 1918, extended the age limits to eighteen and forty-five years.

Indian "Messiah" to Lead America from Materialism

Mystic, Who Denied Counsel to Mahatma Gandhi, Convinced We Need Him. To Break Seven-Year Silence at Los Angeles Next Month.

SHRI BABU, 'CONVERSING' WITH A FRIEND. JEDDU KRISHNAMURTI.

Convinced that America needs saving from the jungle of materialism in which it is wandering about, Shri Babu, Hindu mystic and new "Messiah," has come to the United States to lead the country to spiritual understanding. The Babu, who has not spoken for seven years, having taken a vow of silence to keep himself more in tune with the Infinite, will begin his campaign of salvation at Los Angeles next month, when he will break silence. Although the Babu is a mystic, he is an athlete, cricket and ping-pong being his favorite sports. He is also fond of music and the movies. During his visit to Los Angeles he hopes to meet some of the famous movie stars he has seen on the screen. He will also meet in the film capital a contemporary "Messiah," Jeddu Krishnamurti, who, it will be recalled, was a protégé of the late Annie Besant, apostle of the Theosophists. Krishnamurti has not been active as an evangelist for some time, but he is still regarded as the "Messiah." Though the Babu refuses to speak, he is not averse to conversation by means of the alphabet board which he carries for the purpose. He also employs a secretary who transacts any business with which the "God Man" does not want to be annoyed. Shri Babu is the guest of one of his American disciples, Malcolm Schloss, of Harmon, N. Y.

Depredations of Birds Offset by Good Work

The sickness among allied nations and their shifting from one side to another in different years has a counterpart in the course conducted by some of man's allies in the war on insect pests. The birds, for instance, sometimes do tremendous damage to crops through the damage to young shoots first coming through the ground and to the entire crop through the eating of seed. Fruit trees and berry bushes also suffer from the depredations of birds.

In spite of the damage they do, however, the birds as a useful thing are to be found on the side of man when it comes to the war with insects. It has been noted by experts studying the insect problem that any unusual outbreak of pests usually finds the birds flocking to the section where the outbreak has occurred. Every insect seems to have an overwhelming number of enemies among the birds. The gypsy moth, for instance, is eaten by 40 different types of birds. The cotton boll weevil is attacked by 66, the army worm by 43, the leaf hopper by 175, the potato beetle by 34 and the wireworm by 205.

The birds, when they feed on the insects, really set themselves down to serious eating. One killer, shot and examined for research purposes, had 383 alfalfa weevils in its stomach while a blackbird was found to have 442. Such a capacity for insects makes the birds welcome allies when the insect outbreaks are on, no matter how much they may be opposed to the best interests of man when they are carrying on their own depredating activities.—Washington Star.

Ridding Dog of Fleas
One lady has discovered that her vacuum cleaner will remove all the fleas from her dog, and the dog seems to enjoy the process. The dust bag containing the fleas must be plunged at once into boiling water.

Insane Once Believed to Be Devil-Possessed

Since we know so little of the inner workings of the human mind, insane asylums are really only places where the mentally ill are kept. And yet when one compares these institutions and the care given to the insane to methods used formerly, the least one can say is that the insane are now handled reasonably.

Phillipe Pinel, born in 1745, was not only an apostle of reasonableness as well as human goodness, but possessed the medical training needed to cast aside the ignorant superstitions regarding the insane. In those days in France, and in fact all over Europe, the insane were fogged, were believed to be possessed of the devil, were loaded with chains and imprisoned with the sick and criminal.

As head of the Bicetre hospital in 1793 and as director of the Salpêtrière in 1795, Pinel cast aside the chains of the insane inmates, substituted warm baths for the cold water immersion and instituted many reforms that seem only natural to us. Claude Lillingsston also has offered to readers of Hygeia Magazine the biography of Phillipe Pinel, another of the "Pioneers of Medicine."
